

Company Description:

TSI Incorporated, including the Alnor brand of ventilation test instruments, is a worldwide supplier of innovative instruments for the safety, comfort, and health of people as well as productivity and quality improvement. Alnor products are recognized as leaders in ventilation test equipment. Alnor instruments are used to ensure the comfort, safety, and operating efficiency for indoor environments. Alnor is a proven pioneer of instrumentation designed to improve the effectiveness of professionals performing ventilation testing. Alnor focuses on adding important time saving calculations, like flow rate, actual air velocity, and heat flows that are programmed into many instruments. By utilizing a broad array of measurement technologies, Alnor provides the right products for your applications.