Description:

Building Operator Certification (BOC) is a nationally recognized training and certification program for building operators offering improved job skills and more comfortable, energy-efficient facilities. Certification is competency-based and offered on two levels. Level I emphasizes energy-efficient building maintenance practices. Level II stresses advanced equipment troubleshooting and maintenance. To be certified, participants must successfully complete classes (one day per month), exams, project assignments and submit a certification application to BOC. BOC is led by highly regarded, experienced professional instructors. Participants receive a collection of highly valuable reference materials created and updated by facility experts in energy efficient operations and building systems. Classes are offered in cities across the United States. To view training sites, class schedules, fees and a registration form, visit www.TheBoc.info.
